Of Boston, Mass., Chartered in 1843.

Capital and accumulation, $650,000.

This Company is one of the oldest, and among the most prudently and successfully conducted in the country. The primary object in conducting its business has been to provide perfect security under all conceivable circumstances, for the payment of its losses under its policies, and to return to the insured the surplus at stated periods, and strict economy is observed in all its operations.

Every insured person is a member of the company and shares in the profits of the business, and is subject to no liability or assessments beyond his premium.

The directors are required to be pecuniarily interested in the company, and they give their personal attention; and hands of sufficient security are given by the officers for the faithful performance of their duties. Insurance may be effected for the benefit of the wife, which is secured to her by her beyond the reach of husband's creditors; and creditors may insure the lives of debtors.

Some poetaster of a husband, not having the fear of Lucy Stone before his eyes, and not harboring a doubt but that woman's mission is circumscribed to the circle of home, in some sweet hour of domestic abandon has perpetrated the following:

To My Wife.

In the morning when you rise, Kiss your husband—wash your eyes;
Be as happy all the day, As the singing birds in May.
Never let your sense of quiet Be disturbed by any riot; Always keep an equal mind—Kiss your sorrow to the wind.
In the evening after tea, Sing a song and merry be;
Gather up the little "buds,"
And lay aside their little "puds."

Western Scenery.

No one who has any sense of the grand and the beautiful, can view the scenery of the west without emotion. Everything is on a scale so magnificent, that the mind is almost overwhelmed in astonishment, and man feels his insignificance. Take one of the vast prairies in Illinois, for instance. Take your seat in a railroad car, and you will soon find yourself moving as with the wings of the wind across one of these level plains, where there is not a tree or a shrub to intercept the vision, but one vast extension, one boundless region of space, where the eye is lost as it were, in vacancy; and where the horizon shuts down upon the plain, and the sun in his coming appears to emerge directly from the earth, and in his going down, to sink into that vast abyss of extension, which limits the distant west. On these vast prairies, levelled and spread out by the forming hand of Him, "who causeth the grass to grow for cattle, and herbs for the service of man," you will frequently see herds of cattle grazing at a distance of a mile or two from each other, as far as the eye can reach, apparently diminishing in size from their distance, until the animals dwindle into pigmies, and at last into mere specks upon the blue of this ocean plain.

After traveling for an hour or two over these placid oceans of land, you are brought by the chariot of fire into a rolling country, presenting to the eye a surface like that of the ocean, when the winds have disturbed its tranquil bosom, and its proud waves are swelling in solemn grandeur. These rolling prairies are frequently studded with glades of wood, generally called "oak openings," which contribute greatly to the beauty of the scene. Every one who has been born and brought up in New England, will be filled with a sort of amazement as he gazes for the first time upon these boundless fields. Such visions, for they hardly seem to be realities, serve to expand our views, liberal-ize our feelings, and turn our thoughts in solemn meditation to him who laid the foundations of the earth, and spread out its plains on a scale so grand and magnificent. And when on the other hand, we look upon the great lakes, those beautiful inland seas, whistled by the sails of commerce, or darkened by the steaming cloud which marks the path of the steamer, we almost fancy that to atone for the restraining decree, that great Being who holds the water in the hollow of his hand, has permitted old ocean to break out to himself vast regions in the centre of the continent.

But the scenery which combines the sublime and beautiful the most perfectly, is found on the banks of the great rivers of the west. The upper Mississippi presents to the eye of the traveler a scene of unsurpassed beauty, spread out on nature's broadest, grandest scale. The majestic river, from one to three miles in width, flowing in placid serenity, for hundreds of miles, without any perceptible variation of its size, is of itself no ordinary spectacle. But when it is viewed in connection with the numerous small islands found within its banks, and the vast fields and towering cliffs, which spread out in gentle beauty from its shores, or look down in awful majesty upon its watery bed, it presents to the beholder a scene indescribably grand and picturesque. On some parts of the river the beautiful preponderates over the grand, and though it melts into the gentle never degenerates into the tame; while in other portions the bold rises into grandeur, till it approaches the borders of the terrific, when it softens into beauty, and fills the bosom with emotions of the sublime, chastened by the elegant, and subdued by the lovely. It is impossible for us to portray the grandeur of this scenery, or to give a just conception of the combined beauty and majesty which the banks of this noble river for several hundred miles present.

Geometry may calculate the height of the cliffs, geology may speculate upon the age and character of the strata, and mineralogy may tell of the qualities of the materials found within their bosom, but no science can reveal, no art can paint the bold and the gentle, the sublime and the beautiful, which are here spread out in all their variety, and which blend in such perfect harmony, that,

"As they still stand, they ravish still."

Were we resolved to impress the reader with the most lively image of this enchanting scenery, we would place him in a boat anchored in the Mississippi, at a point where the river runs near the base of these towering bluffs. Facing the shore, you would behold a little to the right, a bold bluff, elevated 4 or 500 feet above the bed of the river, whose summit is about the same distance laterally from the shore. The upper portion being of stratified lime stone, cut vertically as well as horizontally by seams, the front has fallen by disintegration so as to present a perpendicular wall of some 50 or 100 feet, giving a lively representation of an old castle, standing out as if to command the passage of the river. The material which has crumbled and fallen from the front, has laid down gently towards the river, so as to leave a slope of about 45 degrees, extending nearly to the water's edge.

Some 40 or 50 rods to the left the eye rests upon another bluff of the same height and character; with perhaps this difference, the one seems to present its end, the other its side to the shore; the former showing a front of ten rods, the latter of two hundred. Between these majestic walls lie before you a valley as if scraped out by art, extending back from one to five hundred rods, with a gradual ascent till it reaches the height of the surrounding bluffs.— This beautiful configuration of bluffs and intervening valley is rendered perfectly enchanting by the fact that there is not a bush or a shrub to be seen on hill or dale, but the entire surface is covered by a rich carpet of the most beautiful green, the grass covering the entire surface of the vale and the hill sides, up to the very margin of these castle walls; and the whole is studded over with isolated trees, from one to two rods apart, so as to give it the appearance of the work of art. As you gaze upon this magnificent spectacle, you would fancy yourself that you are viewing some noblemen's park, where he had expended his hundreds of thousands to preface and decorate the grounds to please the eye or gratify the taste. With the sun declining, so as to cast his rays down one of these beautiful hill-sides, parallel with the surface of the ground, enriching the verdure and lighting up a smile about the trunks of the trees, while their rich and heavy foliage is waving in the breeze above, you have one of the most enchanting views that nature in her innumerable can yield—a view whose beauties defy the art of the poet or the painter.

This with little variation is a faint representation of the scenery for more than a hundred miles. It has all the appearance of cultivation, when in fact there is no inhabitant in the region.—Boston Atlas.

A FRIGHTENED WIFE.—The Cincinnati Enquirer relates a funny piece of hair dyeing business, in which the principal participant was a Clevelandian.

A few days since a benedict, whose silvery hair proclaimed him on the wrong side of fifty, arrived at Cincinnati. Being a man of taste as well as means, he made the house his residence. The morning after his arrival he visited the magnificent saloon of his friend A—F—, who observing that his customer's hair and whiskers were a very wintry appearance, suggested the propriety of getting them dyed.
Now our hero not being addicted to vanity, at first objected, but A—F— swore that it was a shame such silken locks with a natural wavy curl, should be allowed to retain their frosty character, and the gentleman, finally resigned his amaranth to the hands of A—F—, who very speedily—by the help of C—F—'s cosmetics for changing red or gray to a beautiful brown or black—as the advertisement has it—transmogrified him from a rather antiquated specimen of a gentleman of the "ere and yellow leaf" to a juvenile looking Adonis, of twenty-eight.

The transformation was most gratifying to our hero, who being rather a good looking fellow, felt proud of himself and accordingly displayed his handsome figure in the principal promenades of the city. His business concluded, he returned to his home in Cleveland, where he arrived late at night, and going straightway to his house, was admitted in the dark by his anxious spouse. Going to his apartment, he undressed himself, and without the formality of striking a light, got into bed, and in a short time was closely folded in the arms of his affectionate wife and mother-in-law.

The morning beams were dawning in diamond splendor upon the floor of the bedchamber, when he was awakened by a terrific scream, and starting up he discovered his better half rushing very much terrified from the bed-room. Quick as thought he sprung from his bed and followed her, visions of madness floating through his imagination. At length she reached the parlor, and sinking upon the sofa, she fainted outright.
By dint of sal volatile and other restoratives she was shortly revived, when gazing upon her husband, who was mournfully bending over her, she exclaimed that she was ruined, dishonored and undone.

"Be calm, dearest," said he soothingly.
At the sound of the voice she started, gave one piercing look, and as she recognized the well known features, burst into tears, and sprang into his arms. It appeared that upon waking, instead of the familiar "frosty pow" of her beige lord, she discovered a redundant quantity of dark brown hair and whiskers. This caused her alarm and flight from the matrimonial couch.
The lady, who is many years the junior, is perfectly charmed with the alteration, and feels quite proud of her old man. This adventure terminated happily at last.—Boston Atlas.

JURIES.—They have some queer jurymen in Iowa. A few days since an old toper died rather suddenly—the coroner, in consequence, held an inquest, listened to the testimony of a physician—and was about rendering a verdict "water on the brain," when Mr. Slocum Popplebia, viz to object.

"Mr. Coroner, I have known the deceased ten mortal years, and I know he has never seen asober moment in all that time. To say that such a man can die of 'water on the brain,' is therefore damned nonsense. It can't be did!
'Cause why? He never took any into his system. The true verdict, Mr. Coroner, should be gin, rum, or brandy on the brain, but as I cannot get such a verdict, I am willing to split the difference, compromise, and bring in a verdict as follows: 'Died from the effects of brandy and water on the brain.'" The compromise was agreed to and the verdict is a part and parcel of of the recorded doings in Iowa.

A son of Mr. HALL, of this city died on Saturday evening of congestion of the brain. After death, an examination took place, and the child was found to have a brain weighing three ounces more than that of an ordinary man, and of course was liable at any time to the disease of which it died. A rumor had been current that the child died from a clausenism received at the hands of its school mistress, but the physicians who made the examination have declared there are no grounds for such a report, and that the death was one too likely to take place at any time with such an amount of brain.—Standard.

LATE GASTERS.—The Minnesota land bill having passed congress and received the approbation of the president, there are hopes that the Wisconsin bills may not be far behind in sharing the same good fortune. We perceive that all our representatives voted for the bill. In this we are confident that they represent the wishes of the state and the people. We have paid to the government as much revenue as it is entitled to receive from the public lands in our borders. It has already been remunerated, twice over, for the cost of surveying and selling what has been surveyed and sold, and it is time we were partaking some of the benefits arising from the vast tract of domain which our people have rendered valuable by settling in and around it for the last fifteen or twenty years.

We hope to hear of the speedy passage of the Wisconsin grants, as a triumph of the popular sentiment and a rebuke to the assassins who have tried to prevent it.—Madison Argus.

Manchester, N. H., July 4.
On the morning of the Fourth, a fight took place between a large party of Americans and Irish. The latter were routed, and twelve to fifteen of their houses gutted and furniture destroyed. The Americans then attacked the Catholic church, broke all the windows, when the authorities and police stopped the riot.— Several Americans were seriously injured.

AN INFERNAL SCOUNDREL.—A fellow named Dan Dimmett, scraped the throat of a waiter at the Western Hotel, Buffalo, for landing the last plate of peas on the table to another guest, he wanting them. The wound is not mortal. The same individual procured the publication of the notice of his own death that he might escape from Detroit without paying his debts. He will not get his deserts; but we hope the law will inflict the severest punishment for his offence.— Wisconsin.

SIX MILES OF LOGS.—The Bangor Whig learns from an Oldtown correspondent that there are 600 acres of logs, in many places two or three deep, in the booms above that place—the main boom being filled to Eber's Point two miles, the Cuba boom three-fourths of a mile, and the Argyle boom three miles—making six miles of logs, and covering an average breadth of fifty rods.

THURSDAY MORNING, JULY 13, 1854.

BADGER STATE BANK.—We publish to-day the semi-annual statement of this bank. It shows a highly prosperous condition, and the notes of no bank in the state are more readily received and circulated. We learn from its officers that the capital is soon to be increased to $50,000; the circulating notes having been already ordered. This bank, under the liberal yet safe management of Mr. Dimock, the cashier, who owns one-half of the capital, has been of great benefit to the business interests of this city, and with the increase of its capital will of course be enabled to increase its discounts and facilities to business men. The large amount of deposits shows the confidence of depositors in its safety, and will be apt to increase this class of its customers, as a good deal of money is in the hands of persons who have no immediate use for it, and who will place it where it can be drawn at any moment required.

Resides the Badger State, which was established and is jointly owned by Wm. J. Bell & Co., of the Exchange Bank of Milwaukee, with a capital of $50,000, the Messrs. Bell & Co. established and have a large interest in the Bank of Racine, capital $50,000, and the Bank of Fond du Lac, capital $25,000, shortly to be increased to $50,000.

The anti-Nebraska convention comes off to-day at Madison, and the probability is that it will be very fully attended. One of the editors of this paper is in attendance, and we shall apparently be able to give a full report of the proceedings to-morrow or next day. The great body of the convention will be composed of men honestly desiring to make their opposition to slavery encroachments known and felt. We hope they will not allow themselves to be forestalled by those who have other objects in view, but that such counsels will prevail as will be effective in accomplishing the ostensible objects of the convention.

THE LA SALLE MURDERS.—The Chicago Tribune states that letters have been received from Governor Matteson of Illinois by parties interested in the application for a pardon of the persons convicted of the murder of Mr. Story in La Salle last spring, stating that the governor "has come to the conclusion and has so expressed himself, that after the two trials of these men, both resulting in the same verdict, and the action of the supreme court in the case, he does not deem it his duty to interfere in their decision."

This decision is a right one. There is frequently far too much sympathy for men convicted of the highest crime known to the law, and too many efforts in their behalf to screen them from the punishment due their offence. In this case, it is charged that a political and religious influence was sought to be perverted to their benefit.

SOUTHERN WISCONSIN RAILROAD.—At the election of directors yesterday, Nelson Dewey, of Grant county, J. J. R. Pease and J. Mitchell of Janesville, J. W. Stewart and M. Kelley of Monroe, J. H. Earnest, J. H. Knowlton and T.
C. Gibson of Lafayette county, and E. Lang-worthy of Dubuque; were unanimously chosen.
At a subsequent meeting of the directors, Ex-Gov. Dewey was unanimously re-elected president.

MAISE.—The opponents of the Nebraska bill in Maine seem determined to unite their efforts and administer an effective rebuke to its authors.
In the 2d congressional district, Samuel J. Gilman was nominated as the whig candidate, and the Morrill (anti-Nebraska) democrats nominated Gov. John G. Perry. To effect the desired union, both nominees have agreed to submit the matter to a committee of conference from the respective nominating conventions, and abide the result of their decision as to which shall withdraw. This is the right course and the right spirit.

A single rowdy recently kept a dozen of the police at bay in St. Louis for an hour. When finally overpowered he was bloody from head to foot from the beating he had received.

A NEW ROUTE.—The Milwaukee Wisconsin reports the arrival at that port of 1500 tons of railroad iron for the La Crosse railroad direct from Quebec. The Wisconsin says it is the first arrival of the kind, and that the iron was re-shipped only at Quebec on its passage from England.

The death of Mr. Henry K. Holley, cashier of the State Bank at Madison, at Lyons, N.
Y., on Saturday the 8th inst., from cholera, is announced. Mr. Holley left Madison on Wednesday last, to spend a few weeks at Lyons, the residence of his mother, and arrived there on Friday afternoon, at 4 o'clock, with an attack of cholera, and died the next morning at nine o'- clock. His sudden death will cast a deep gloom over his acquaintances, both there and at Madison, where he was much respected and beloved.

CHICAGO.—The Daily Tribune publishes the report of the city sexton, for June by which it appears that the whole number of interments for that month was 333, of which 142 were deaths from cholera. The mortality thus far for this month has been in much greater ratio, the number of interments from the 1st to the 8th inclusive being 242. On the 9th there were 38 interments, mostly from cholera.

The jury of inquest in the case of Connor have brought in a verdict of murdered by Michael Fleming principal and James Ducey accessory. The mayor of the city offers a reward of $200 for the apprehension of the murderers.
The error of a moment may become the sorrow of a whole life.

BLACKWOOD'S EDINBURGH MAGAZINE for June has been received. Among other articles of interest is one peculiarly so to its American readers, entitled "the recent growth of the United States of America." It is re-published by Leonard Scott & Co., 79/Fulton street, New York, at $3 00 per year.

THE KNICKERBOCKER MAGAZINE commences its forty-fourth volume with the July number, now received. The Knickerbocker enjoys a wide and well earned reputation. Published by Samuel Hueston, 648 Broadway, New York, at $3 00 per year.

Our readers need not mind the outside date of to-day's paper, unless they want to be "set back" a day or two. The inside date is all right.

One of the effects of the late hot weather was the death of a large number of hogs on the Illinois Central railroad between Peru and the junction. Out of a drove of 450, 225 died. They were being transported from Ver-million county to New York, but being so closely stowed in the cars, they suffocated from the heat. The train went on to Detroit from the junction with the dead and the live hogs unsepa-rated.

A hotel company is organized in Milwaukee, and at a recent meeting of the stockholders the following persons were chosen directors:

J. B. Cross, James Luffington, A. Finch, Jr., T. P. Williams, John Lockwood.

MR. SCHUYLER'S LETTER OF RESIGNATION.—
The following is a copy of the letter from Mr.
Schuyler resigning his post of president of the New Haven railroad, and absolving his brother from all knowledge of the fraud, which he at the same time confesses:

New York July 3.
Gentlemen: I beg to resign my seat in the board of directors of the New York and New Haven railroad company, and also the office of president and the appointment of transfer agent of the stock of the company.

Your attention to the stock ledger of your company is essential, as you will find there much that is wrong. The details can be furnished with precision, though I cannot do so.

In reference to the connection of these transactions with R. and G. L. Schuyler, I wish to make my solemn assurance that in no way has my brother been concerned in them, nor has he ever known or been informed of them. In fact, there was no mode in which he could obtain information except from myself, and I have over been quite as careful to keep him in ignorance as any other person. He could not even have ascertained the facts from our own books and accounts, and to those of the New Haven company in my charge he had no access.

Your obedient servant,
ROBERT SCHUYLER.

To the directors of the N. Y. & N. H. R. R.
The following letter in the Tribune is in reply to a piece of gossip about Mr. Robert Schuyler's marriage:

Sir—I beg a small space in your columns to refute a story that appeared in last evening's Post, relative to the private life and marriage of Mr. Robert Schuyler. I will not speak of the indeficiency and rudeness of the hand, that at this critical juncture would tear aside the sacred veil of domestic privacy—for every sensitive heart will at once perceive—nor would I here undertake to defend one too ill to defend himself; to time and to a just God I do commit the vindication of my husband's honor.

But as other stories may spring from the same source that originated this marriage romance, I would here pronounce it all a fabrication.
The "poor girl's" family was as respectable and wealthy as Mr. Schuyler's own, and they were really connected by marriage.

The name of Spicer, by which the family was so long known, was the name of a near and dear relative who bequeathed it to the "poor girl"; with the small property which alone remained to provide for the wants of her children and dying husband.

Will the Evening Post copy this communication in correction of its false statement?
Mrs. ROBERT SCHUYLER, W. 22d st.

INTERESTING POST OFFICE STATISTICS.—The surplus of box rents in the post office at San Francisco is such an extraordinary sum, and the yearly increase so great over anything on record in the general post office, that we give it in the official figures, as one of the remarkable facts in the progress of California—the political, financial, and social miracle of the world.

The amount paid into the treasury, deducting the postmaster's allowance, for the third quarter of 1854 was $2,485; for the first quarter of 1854, $7,650. And it is the opinion of Colonel Henly, the efficient postmaster of San Francisco, (who is now in this city,) that the surplus box rents for 1855 will realize $40,000. The boxes are arranged with lock and key, so that each holder helps himself without delay. Some boxes pay as high as $40 a year. The highest amount realized from the New York post office is $2,990; Boston, $1,684 14; New Orleans, $1,304 84.

REMARKABLE.—One of our citizens was attacked with cholera on Saturday, and about 2 o'clock on that afternoon was supposed to be dead. His shroud was prepared, and was about to be placed upon him. The storm came up, the windows of the room where he laid were open, the cold air, charged with electricity, came rushing in, and the supposed dead man revived, and came to life. He is alive this morning, and probably will recover.

We are much opposed to the practice of burying people so soon after death. Nothing is so horrible as the thought of being buried alive, and the mere possibility of such an event should insure the greatest caution in interments.—Chicago Tribune.

As the note of preparation begins to be sounded for the fall elections of the free states, it is worth while to know when they come. The first of them are not far off:

State	Day	Month	Year
Iowa	Aug. 7	Massachusetts	Nov. 13
California	Sept. 5	New York	do 17
Vermont	do 5	New Jersey	do 7
Maine	do 11	Illinois	do 7
Penn.	Oct. 10	Michigan	do 7
Ohio	do 10	Wisconsin	do 7
Indiana	do 10

All these states elect representatives this year.
The legislatures of California, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New York, Pennsylvania, Vermont and Wisconsin, each choose a U. S. senator also at their next meeting. We do not believe that any man who voted for the repeal of the Missouri compromise will go back to Washington from any of them.
These elections settle the character of congress until March, 1857.

RETREAT OF THE RUSSIAN ARMY FROM THE TURKISH TERRITORIES.—The following important despatch announcing the immediate and complete retreat of the Russians from the Sultan's dominions was published on Monday evening:

PARIS, Monday, June 26, 1854.
The Monitor publishes intelligence from Bucharest of the 23d, received by telegraph via Belgrade. It says: "The siege of Silistria, suspended on the 13th, has now been raised by superior order. The Russians have evacuated Giurgovo, and the whole Muscovite army is about to retire beyond the Pruth."

PARIS, Tuesday, Morning, June 27.

The Monitor announces that a dispatch received from Vienna, dated Monday, states that the siege of Silistria was raised, and that the Russians were retreating en masse. Their retreat was being effected from all parts of Wallachia, in the direction of Fokshani and Barlat. The entry of the Austrians into the principalities is decided on and Count Corotchi, with the 1st division, to be followed closely by a second, is ready to descend the Danube to Giurgovo, when he will march to Bucharest.

CRONSTADT, (in Transylvania) June 19.
The Russians are leaving Wallachia in all haste. They take with them the horses, oxen, wheat, and everything movable on which they can lay their hands, leaving nothing behind but their wretched paper money.
A despatch from Vienna, dated the 25th inst.
says:

"The Russians are in full retreat to Moldavia.
The Russians in the Debrudschka are also retiring. A Turkish army, 20,000 strong, is advancing to relieve Rasceva. Omar Pasha is advancing with his entire force to the Danube."

In consequence of the wounds received by Prince Paskiewitch, (who was also much enfeebled by fever) and Prince Gortschakoff, General Dumenberg has been appointed to the chief command of the Russian forces. The complete defeat of the Russians on the 16th is confirmed, a portion of the besieging army having been forced to recross the Danube in all haste. The Turks took several standards and a great quantity of baggage. Five Russian generals were either killed or wounded in this affair alone. The left leg of General Schilders was taken out of the socket, and he lies in a dangerous state. He is advanced in years, and of nervous temperament. Prince Gortschakoff's wound is severe. General Liders, who is also wounded, is said to be doing well. Marshal Paskiewitch suffers considerably from his constic. Count Oloff longers without hope of recovery.

VIENNA, June 26, '54.
The night before last the Russian reply to the Austrian note reached here. It is to the effect that, as a mark of high consideration for Austria Russia consents to evacuate the Turkish territories.

ATTEMPTED INCENDIARISM—MORE FRAUDS—CHOLERA IN NEW YORK.—At a late hour last night, a cotton merchant was discovered in the act of setting fire to his store in South street, near Fletcher. He was seized by the officer, and then attempted to bribe him with the offer of his gold watch and to release him. The policeman refused. The gentleman was locked up to await further action.
It is reported this afternoon that the prisoner has committed suicide in the tomb.

Alexander Kyle, Jr., secretary of the Harlem railroad company, confessed that there has been an over-issue of a thousand shares of Harlem stock, valued at $30,000, and that he has appropriated that amount to his own private purposes. Besides this amount, the company lost $400,000 by the misuse of their bonds.— The stock was not called at the board of brokers to-day and will not be until the examination now pending is over. The examination into the af-airs of the New Haven company is still proceeding.

The board of health of this city, to-day, declined giving a report of cholera cases for publication in the newspapers on the ground that it tended to cause excitement among the people.
The physicians stated, however, that there had been no increase in the disease.
